

LONE VEILED LADY AT ANDERSON BIER

"Perfect Lover" Buried in Kansas City With Military Ceremony

NURSE SOBS IN HOSPITAL

Accompanied by little of the glamour and romance that featured his life, F. Warren Anderson, the "perfect lover," son of Frank Anderson, of Collingswood, N. J., and victim of Peggy Best, enamored nurse and the last of his "fifty loves," was laid away in an unobtrusive grave in a Kansas City cemetery yesterday, with only the plain, womanly figure of a mysterious woman, kneeling in silent prayer, as his mourner.

Throughout the simple services, conducted by the Rev. James Small, in the uniform of a military chaplain, hovered a woman, dressed in deep mourning and with her face fully hidden by a heavy veil. When a guard of four khaki-clad airmen lifted the casket into the hearse she followed silently, and after the body had been lowered into the grave she remained until long after the funeral cortege had left.

Who she is the authorities do not know, but she resembled the woman whose presence has flitted through the last chapter of the dramatic tragedy of Anderson's death, visited the undertaking parlor and asked that his body be kept from a pauper's grave. She left money to cover expenses and called upon the Rev. Dr. Small, chaplain of the American Legion, to arrange for the military escort. She would reveal nothing that might aid to identify her.

Perhaps she was the woman for whom Mrs. Best, according to her story, fired the fatal shot which ended the life of the "Perfect Lover," that "another heart might not be broken." Perhaps she was one of Anderson's previous loves.

A curious spectator approached her. What was her name? That did not matter, she replied, the buried man was a soldier—a good one, too, so was he not "entitled to some slight service?"

At the hospital where Mrs. Best is slowly recovering from her self-inflicted bullet wound, the slayer refused to admit any one to her room. Nurses said she wept throughout the day. Mrs. Best, nurses said, still maintained her attitude—no regret of the past, and no fear of the future.

Cameron Orr, County Prosecutor, yesterday issued a "hold" order to the general hospital authorities for Mrs. Best's detention pending institution of formal charges against her.

CHURCH SCHOOL FIGHT ON IN HADDON HEIGHTS

Objection to Graduation Speakers is Cause of Row

Owing to difficulties between the session of the Presbyterian Church in Barrington and the Board of Education, the graduation exercises of the eighth grade are to be held in the Borough Hall in Haddon Heights. For many years the exercises have been held in a church auditorium.

The session did not refuse the use of the church, but objected to three names of speakers on the program and requested the Board of Education to either take the names off the list or not to circulate the program in the church. The board flatly refused to change the program.

The Moderator of the session, the Rev. W. T. Pannell, against whom a petition has been sent to the General Assembly to have him removed as pastor of the church, was the objector. The petition is now being investigated by a commission appointed by the president.

The three names on whom the objection was raised were those of John S. Roberts, Mayor of Barrington; Mrs. Walter Menlove, president of the Teachers' Association, and Oscar McDaniel, member of Council.

WILL ENDOWS CHURCH

A bequest of $5000 to be held in trust for St. Michael's Lutheran Church, Chestnut Hill, is contained in the will of Emily L. Royal, of Bethlehem pike, which was probated today. Her private bequests have been made from the estate of $14,500, the residue is to go to the Lutheran Home.

In the will of Patrick Cullen, who died recently in the Chestnut Hill Hospital, also probated, a bequest of $200 is made to the Church of the Most Precious Blood to be distributed among the poor orphans of the parish. The estate is valued at $7000.

EVOLUTION AND GOD

Belief in both is not impossible. The question of human origin, always a subject of heated argument, is treated by a group of authority in a readable, interesting article.
